Astoria is the oldest American settlement west of the Rockies and is the western end of the Lewis & Clark Trail. Hundreds of Victorian homes, a revitalized 1920s downtown, Riverfront Trolley, the Astoria Column, and the Columbia River Maritime Museum are just a few of the many attractions. The Columbia River is a heavily traveled commercial shipping as well as commercial and sport fishing waterway. Over two hundred ships have been lost to the sea off the mouth of the Columbia River including the often photographed Peter Iredale. Fort Stevens State Park, the South

Jetty, and Clatsop Spit for bird photography are other areas of interest.
